Don't miss the ending of your favorite show this spring. Set your DVR to record so you can watch over and over. You can also catch many programs on Watch TV Everywhere.

WTVE is a FREE service that allows you to view your favorite TV programming on devices other than a TV – such as a tablet, laptop or PC with an Internet signal. Keep in mind that network availability is dependent on your television package subscription. For example, you must be a Science Channel subscriber in order to watch Science Channel's WTVE programs.

To register, go to www.wtve.net. From the drop down, select NVC as your provider. Click on register and complete the information requested, including your NVC account number (found on your bill) and an email address. PROTECT YOUR DEVICES

According to an article on komando.com, malicious apps have been found in official app stores such as Google Play Store. These apps were infected with malicious code being called "DrainerBot" and your gadget might be infected.

This could end up costing you big time. Since the video ads are constantly running behind the scenes, you don't see them and never know it's happening. Which could lead to problems.

First, it could cause your battery to drain faster than usual. The phone might feel hot, even when it's not being used and you may have to charge it more than normal.

Also, the ads can eat through data like you wouldn't believe. It could lead to using more than 10 GBs of extra data per month, which could cost you hundreds of dollars per year depending on your data plan.

These five apps have been infected with DrainerBot: Perfect365, VertexClub, Draw Clash of Clans, Touch 'n' Beat - Cinema and Solitaire: 4 Seasons. If you have installed any of the apps on the list, delete them immediately.

You also may have installed an infected app that isn't on the list. If your device is running unusually hot, eating through tons of data, seems sluggish, or your battery life drains super fast it may be infected. To pinpoint which app/apps are causing the problem, find out which ones have high data usage.

Google recently said that it has screened all the apps in the Play Store and none of them are infected.

Nobody wants to worry about their devices being infected. We're here to help!
