DECEMBER 2024 | VOL. 3 NO. 12

World Kindness Day

In honor of World Kindness Day, Shaun Falken and Jeff Evenson presented a check to Heather Smith and Cheryl Sivertsen of the Aberdeen Area Foster Closet to help purchase items for their Holiday Gift Drive. They will be taking donations at First Premier Realty until December 15th. If you'd prefer to make a cash donation, AAFC will do the shopping for you! <https://www.venmo.com/u/AberdeenAreaFosterCloset>

For more information, visit their Facebook page by searching Aberdeen Area Foster Closet. You can see current needs, recent donations, their Amazon wishlist link, as well as contact information.

The Aberdeen Area Foster Closet is a valuable resource and helps bridge the gap between DSS and foster families.

AAHS Sponsored Pet

As of printing deadline, our November Aberdeen Area Humane Society sponsored pet, Buttercup, is still available for adoption. Buttercup is an 18-month-old DSH (domestic short hair). He was found in Aberdeen as a stray with several wounds that turned out to be from a pellet gun. He is now healed and ready to be adopted. We donate $250 to the AAHS if our sponsored pet is adopted during that month. Our October pet, Montana, is also still available.

You can find out more about Buttercup, Montana and other available pets at anewleashonlife.net or call the AAHS at 605-226-1200 to schedule a time to visit.

Special Announcement

Our offices will be closed Monday-Wednesday, December 23-25, and Wednesday, January 1, to celebrate the holidays and spend time with our families. Have a safe and happy holiday season!

Simplify Your Holiday

If you're stressing about the upcoming holidays, put technology to good use to relieve some stress. See the below tips from Komando.com

Create a digital cookbook

If your recipes are printed or handwritten, snap a picture with your phone or tablet. Add them all to one folder for easy swiping. If you're using recipes you found online, you can go to justtherecipe.com to strip the ads, save the PDF versions, and toss them all in one spot. There's a free 14-day trial, so just remember to cancel if you're not going to keep using it.

Digital holiday cards

Canva, Adobe Express, Paperless Post and Mailchimp all offer solid options. Choose a template, whip up a greeting and send it in just a few minutes — no trip to the post office.

Turn your TV into a digital fireplace

Don't have a crackling fire? Search for "Yule log" on YouTube or your preferred streaming service. Boom — instant cozy vibes. Bonus points if you turn on your smart speaker to play holiday tunes in the background.

Remove the screen temptation

The holidays aren't the time to be scrolling constantly on your phone. If you need help disconnecting on your Android, go to Settings, then digital wellbeing. From there you can set app timers, a screen time goal, and set parental controls.

Winter Weather Apps

The first official day of winter is right around the corner, and winter weather won't be far behind if it hasn't already touched us by December 21.

Not many enjoy winter weather that alters our weekend or travel plans, but being prepared can help so much. Having a weather app like The Weather Channel, Weather Underground, AccuWeather, or Weather.gov on your phone can help you plan ahead.

As for road conditions SDDOT 511 is a very detailed app with forecasts, current conditions, closures, and pictures. Many states have their own apps, and although getting used to how one indicates what is on the ground can be confusing, downloading a specific state before getting on the road may save you a lot of stress.
